1. The site looks amazing!! It's clear and informative!
2. The one major thing that we discussed was making the site responsive – when the size of the window changes the readability of the text is lost
3. One other small thing that we talked about would be maybe just to make the letters on the enter page the orange color that is on the header- just to see how that looks, but I trust your instinct on if that would be better or not!
